Most trains that head south from Bangkok stop at the Hua Hin Railway Station, so transportation by train is not an issue. Generally speaking, the train ride takes from 4 – 6 hours (considerably longer than the 2 – 3 hour car ride); however, the train fare is much cheaper than taxi fare. The fare for the train ranges from 40 – 100 baht, depending on the class and speed of the train. The Hua Hin Railway Station Office is located on Damnuenkasem Rd. For more information please call: +66 (0) 32-511-073 or visit: www.railway.co.th

By Car...

The drive from Bangkok to Hua Hin – approximately 200 km – can be traveled in 2 – 3 hours. The quickest route is to take Highway 35 South to Highway No. 4

By Bus...

Buses from Suvarnabhumi Airport to the Hua Hin Bus Station (near Hua Hin Airport) are available. The prices start around 275 Baht/person. This service can be booked online one day in advance through Bell Travel Service. Also available, are buses between Bangkok City and Hua Hin, which can be taken from Bangkok's Sai Tai Mai terminal and departs every 20 minutes. The price for the 3 ½ hour journey starts at 200 baht for first class.

By Private Taxi...

The cost of a private taxi between Bangkok and Hua Hin (2 ½ hours) is approximately 2,500 baht for private car and 3,500 baht for private van.
